Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

This Australian, Harry Bridges, communist labor agitator and leader has succeeded in tying up sixty-two coastwise steam schooners and in shutting down the entire coastal system of one steamship company. He has been so successful that there is talk among steamship companies of putting on embargo on the port of San Francisco for the duration of the strike. Bridges, of course passes the buck to the steamship companies, and calls it a lockout. The New Deal has tried very ineffectively to establish a new system of settling strikes, a compulsory system. It has failed to work, probably because both employers and employees fear the intervention of third parties, who may or may not have a political bias. But so far as Bridges is concerned, the people, outside his immediate following, would be glad to see him deported as a public nuisance, and a one-man menace to international trade.

The battles in Ethiopia are beginning to pall. Live newspaper editors are relegating the war to the back pages as interest wanes. One reason for the waning interest is the conflcting stories that come from Addis Ababa and Rome. Propaganda filled with huge lists of dead, captured and wounded coming from both sources, one denying the other, constitute a stalemate so far as the news is concerned. News readers shrug their shoulders and wonder which one is lying. The real interest centers is the League of Nations proposals at Geneva. At the moment the league seems to be progressing crab fashion, while Mussolini goes merrily one with his war. The important development is the iron chain of nations hostile to Italy which Great Britain's diplomacy is forging, of which France is a reductant member. Mussolini, who violated the law of the League in making war on a fellow member of the league, Ethiopia, is now shouting to the world that Great Britain is violating the league covenants in forming this extra league cabal.

To the man on the ground looking up into the spacious empyrean, it would seem as if the pilots of two airplane in broad daylight could avoid a collision. Six soldiers were killed at Luke field in Honolulu Saturday when two big bombing planes crashed together in mid-air. The only wonder is that two others, managed to escape by bailing out. Really with the myriad number of directions open to a plane, in which to avoid a collision, it seems a miracle of a fateful sort that they could have collided. Yet this is an accident that has happened many times in United States army aviation experience, both in training schools for flyers and in maneuvers.

Al Smith, we surmise, is to be one of the picturesque factors in the presidential campaign this year. As a member of the Liberty League he will have much to say of pungent interest to friend and foe alike. The Liberty League is really the front of the Conservatives. Conservative Democrats are so closely akin to the Old Guard Republicans that their merging in the Liberty League is natural. Conservative Democrats date back to Grover Cleveland, who, had he worn a Republican label, could have functioned no more zealously for conservative principles than he did. Cleveland was a Gold Democrat and Al Smith, politically, with his derision of "baloney dollars" is a lineal descendant of Cleveland.

"Another million dollars will pour this month into the war coffers for America's offensive war against infantile paralysis, childhood's most feared disease. It was indicated here recently when final reports on the 1935 Birthday Ball for the President were made public by Franklin D. Roosevelt. The reports, drawn up by Keith Morgan, treasurer of the National Committee for the Birthday Ball, showed that $1,071,000 was raised for the fund on January 30, 1935, at the second nation wide Birthday Ball celebration. This was $68,000 more than the sum raised in 1934, when the first ball was held and the 1936 National Committee, under the chairmanship of Colonel Henry L. Doherty, believes that an even greater total will be raised this January 30."

One way to hold taxes down is for every community to contribute adequately through private charity to support of the sick, the helpless, the needy and all those who for physical reasons are unable to help themselves. If we don't do it, a government agency will do it, and that may easily cost more than private charity.

CENSUS BEGINS OF BUSINESS IN NEVADA COUNTY

Gerald C. Herring, who has been named local supervisor of the census of business, today, announces that enumeration work will start in Nevada county today. Two enumerators will be named to make the canvas in this district which includes sixteen counties.

Offices of the census are established at 327 Lincoln St., Roseville, and a staff of three persons has been employed to handle the work. All census employees are bound by a strict census oath not to reveal any information contained on business reports and the law makes any violation a criminal offense.

Mr. Herring states that every retail and wholesale business, all hotels, places of amusement, business service companies, insurance agencies, real estate offices, anl trucking and bus companies, all banks, office buildings managers and contractors will be canvassed for reports on their operations during the calendar year 1935. The results are to be tabulated in Philadelphia, headquarters of the business census, and become the basic statistics which businesses use in planning their operating policies.

Mr. L. A. Wrabek who has been selected as assistant supervisor, has helped to conduct the training courses for enumerators.

Supervisor Herring explained this census has been extended considerably beyond the limitations of the census of distribution for 1929, and the census of American business for 1933, as a result of business requests that all fields of business be included.

"It is designed," he said, "to supply a definite answer to the question of how many concerns there are in business, the total volume of annual business, and the total payrolls and employment. More than 100 representatives, delegated by various business associations in each field to be covered, met with census officials to be asked."

Retail trade will be divided into two size classifications: Stores with total sales of $50,000 and over, and those with sales of less than $50,000. Commodity data will be sought from the larger group and from all wholesale establishments including exporters, importers, and limited function wholesalers.

For the first time, Mr. Herring announced, the census includes banking and finance for the entire range of commercial, agricultural and mortgage and personal credit finance as well as security brokers and dealers.

Construction, including building, highway and heavy construction by contractors is included again, as in 1929. General contractors, operative builders and sub-contractors are to be covered.

Highway and street transportation, including trucking for hire and bus operations are included in the census for the first time. Commercial warehousing is included in the comprehensive plans announced today.

REV. BUCKNER, WIFE BRUISED IN CAR COLLISION

While Rev. H. H. Buckner was enroute to the funeral of W. B. Meek at Camptonville, Sunday his car was struck by another car. Rev. and Mrs. Buckner escaped with bruises while their guests, Mrs. C. Ray Murchie received a sprained shoulder, and Miss Kimsey escaped injury. The machine has a broken windshield and damages to the front of the car, but it was a miracle they escaped more serious injury. Rev. Buckner states the other car was hugging the bank on the wrong side of the road on a sharp turn this side of the South Yuba river bridge.

The driver of the other car told Mr. Buckner he had had another accident and was unable to keep his machine under better control. The driver gave his name as Carl Irving of Grass Valley, but the car bore a Nevada state license.

Ross Taylor of Downieville came along and picked Rev. and Mrs. Buckner up and took them to the funeral while Mrs. Murchie and Miss Kimsey returned to their homes in another machine.

NARROW GAUGE JUMPS RAILS· CORPSE IS LATE

In the baggage car of the Narrow Gauge train Saturday afternoon, was a corpse coming home to rest in Nevada county soil. Near the Empire mine a tank car was derailed and jumped the track and there was a long delay while the car was put back on the track. A woman bystander, interested in the proceedings, remarked to the perspiring conductor: "Say mister, you had better hurry up or that man in the baggage car will be late to his own funeral."

DAVID STARR JORDAN, PIONEER IN EDUCATION

(By ROY W. CLOUD, State Executive Secretary California Teachers Association)

As the first president and director of the educational policy of Leland Stanford Jr. University, David Starr Jordan determined that freedom should be the guiding principle for all students who entered the university.

Dr. Jordan, already nationally distinguished as an educator and scholar, came to Stanford from the presidency of the University of Indiana at Bloomington. He brought with him to the Golden Gate the motto which outlined his entire educational program. Engraved upon the seal of Stanford University it reads: "Die luft der freiheit weht." Literally translated, this German expression is: "The breath of freedom blows."

Stanford University was a privately endowed institution. Dr. Jordan was free to decide that the old rigidly accepted plan of a classical education which required Latin, Greek and the humanities, should not be the program for a young, virile institution that was to inaugurate a new principle of education.

Dr. Jordan, in preparing his program, gave the greatest freedom in the selection of courses to all students who entered the institution. Practically all the customary requirements for prescribed subjects were disregarded and the student chose those subjects and courses that he felt best fitted for his particular object in life.

So this great educator brought with him to the Pacific Coast, and here was started, a freedom in education which rapidly spread throughout the nation and to other sections of the world.

A big, broad shouldered man who weighed well into the two hundreds and stood six foot three in his stockinged feet, Dr. Jordan was for forty years a recognized factor in California education. These forty years made up the real formative period of child study and education development in our state's system.

In 1884 while travelling in Europe with his parents, former Governor and Mrs. Leland Stanford, Leland Stanford, Jr., died, an only son. During the period of mourning and even before they had started for home with the body of their boy, Stanford said to Mrs. Stanford: "We shall build a school on 'the farm' at Menlo Park and make the boys and girls of California our children."

In the spring of 1891, the Stanfords were directed to David Starr Jordan at Bloomington. They immediately offered him the presidency of the new university. Senator and Mrs. Stanford explained their plans and hopes to this great, tall college president who had been a disciple and friend of the great scientist and naturalist, Louis Agassiz.

David Starr Jordan saw the pic- accepted the challenge and came to the Pacific coast to here begin his real life work.

Stanford University today, world-wide in educational prestige, stands as a living and immemorial monument to how wisely and well he builded, to how splendidly he planned, and to how effectively he gave the urge to men and women to fit themselves to become really educated and worthwhile citizens.

Dr. Jordan has left an indelible imprint on the educational systems not only of California and the west but of the nation.

DEATH SUMMONS WILLIAM B. MEEK REVERED PIONEER

CAMPTONVILLE, Jan. 27.—William Bull Meek, pioneer resident, merchant and much respected citizen of this place passed away at his home here Thursday afternoon after an lilness of several months.

William Bull Meet was born on December 25, 1858 at the Empire Ranch six miles north of Downieville. When but a small tot his parents moved from there to Indian Valley, there being no reads, he was carried in the saddle bag by mule back. His father, J. R. Meek established a grocery business at that place where the family resided for several years, afterward moving to Camptonville where he spent the most of his life.

He made up part of the young life of the community, graduating from the ninth grade of the local school. Before and after school he helped his father about the store, delivering, making paper bags, and other chores that are unknown to a grocery store of the present age. After leaving school he was associated in the mercantile business in which he has been engaged most of his life.

As a young man he did all the delivering in the remote places where packtrain had to be used, and from early until late, Bill Meek, with his train of pack mules was a familiar figure among the mountains.

He was an expert on packing a mule and was the only one left in this section recently who could put on the old diamond hitch. It is said that he has packed every conceivable commodity on the back of a mule, including iron pipe, a corpse and a piano. He was a well known stage driver of the earlier days being in the same class as the other knights of the whip. He drove the last horse stage into Downieville as it was replaced with the automobile. He became well acquainted along the byways and was familiar with the characters who inhabited the well known old stopping places, landmarks of the past, Nigger Tent, Mountain House, Florida House, etc. For many years he was agent for Wells Fargo Express Company and Western Union Telegraph Company.

Meek has been a prominent business figure in these parts most of his life. Besides being engaged in the mercantile business, he and John Martin owned and operated the Yuba Development Company, operating the Slate Range, Colgate flume and power house.

They hauled the lumber with a large number of heavy teams and a steam wagon. He met with misfortune, the town having been destroyed by fire twice, the second time in 1908, he rebuilt with two large concrete buildings, and again arose the third town from the ashes.

In 1892 he put on a big three day wild west show, one of the biggest celebrations ever held in any town, which celebration was witnessed by over 2000 people from all over the country.

Bill Meek served one term as county assessor of Yuba county, his deputy Tom Bevan, succeeding him and retaining the office until his death. He served several terms as Justice of the Peace of Slate Range Township, and resigned as justice of the peace of Camptonville Township a few years ago because of ill health. Acting in such capacity he has conducted 109 funeral services of old friends wishing him to say the last words. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of the Camptonville Union school district, and clerk of the board at time of his death.

William Bull Meet was a man of good character and disposition much respected and well thought of by a host of friends all over the state. He was ever willing to stretch forth a helping hand to those of his community and in many instances families would have been in despair and want for food were it not for his charitable generosity. He was always the same Bill Meek wherever he was found. He was of jovial nature and it was always with delight to the listener to hear his many stories.

He was prominent in fraternal organizations, having been a member of Gravel Range Lodge No. 59 F. & A. M. of this place for 55 years, he served this lodge as Worshipful Master for 28 consecutive years. He was a member of the Royal Arch Masons and the Commandry Knight Templar at Marysville, and a life member of Islam Temple Order of the Mystic Shrine at San Francisco. In 1928 he served as Grand Bible Bearer for the Grand Lodge of Masons for the state of California. In the early days he was prominent in the original order of E Clampus Vitus. and also a charter member of the revived order of the Clampers.

He married Mary Ellen Robbins, of Browns Valley, the daughter of a well known early California stage driver, and to this union was born four children, three girls and one boy, the latter passing away in infancy.

He is survived by a wife, Mary Ellen Meek, three daughters, Mrs. Martha Joubert, of this place, Mrs. Lottie A. Cleveland, of Sacramento, and Mrs .Virginia M. Lord, of Decoto, a brother Jason R. Meek of Marysville, two grandsons, Acton M. Cleveland of this place and John F. Lord of Berkeley, a granddaughter Miss Lesta M. Joubert of this place, and a great granddaughter, Miss Earlyne A. Cleveland of Sacramento.

The body was taken in charge by the W. R. Jefford and Son mortuary firm of Grass Valley who have charge of the funeral arrangements which will be announced later.

Mr. E. E. Barker, mining man of the bay district, who is spending several days in Nevada City called on Dr. C. W. Chapman Saturday to tell him he and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Uren and Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Searls had visited Warren (Buzz) Chapman at West Point and that they had found him in fine spirits.

Large Attendance At Presidents Ball Is Forecast for Jan. 30

The largest attendance in three years, that is the expectation of the committee in charge of the President's Birthday Ball, which will take place next Thursday evening in Memorial Hall, Grass Valley. Not only will there be dancing to the music of one of the best dance orchestras in Northern California, but there will be an excellent program preceding the dance which will be worth the hearing seeing of all those who attend.

The program under the direction of Christian Anderson will consist of the following events:

Band concert, Grass Valley band.

Pianologue, whistling and singing, Mrs. Charles Elliott.

Trombonosis, Patrick O'Brien.

Your Songs and Mine, Mrs. Katherine Celio.

Accordiano, Jeannette Berdot.

Egyptian Adagio Dance, Joan Grant.

It will be noted that many on the program are from Nevada City. Tickets sales in this community have evidenced the whole hearted co-operation which this community is giving the big twin city annual event.

Infantile paralysis, regarded as just another one of the many troubles that people didn't have to worry about till modern times, is actually a scourge as old as the history of man.

The fact is brought out in a survey recently completed in New York by Dr Leroy W. Hubbard, director of extension work for the Warm Springs Foundation of New York, in which he reviewed the disease in its ancient and modern aspects

"The only new thing about infantile paralysis is its present day name and the fact that in recent years it has reached pan-epidemic proportions," Dr. Hubbard says. He points out that Dr. Victor Clarence Vaughan, the noted medical historian, has reported "definite evidence of infantile paralysis in Egyptian mummies," and that the disease was familiar under various names in medieval Europe.

Dr. Hubbard's survey, concentrated for the most part on the situation in the United States, emphasized the seriousness of the disease in modern times, offset only by the work of scientific investigators and of lay workers under the leadership of Colonel Henry L. Doherty, chairman of the National Committee for the Birthday Ball for the President since 1934.

"The first big modern epidemic in the United States", Dr. Hubbard points out, "occurred in 1916. It reached every state in the union and struck down more than 25,000 persons, the mapority of them children. Since then all states have had recurrent attacks, and large or small outbreaks have prevailed almost annually."

It is to battle against this increasing annual epidemic that 5000 committes throughout the United States are giving the President's Birthday Ball in that many cities, next Thursday night.

Yardstick

(By BRUCE BARTON)

The following editorial by Bruce Barton appeared in the Redbook Magazine.

Perhaps you receive a good deal of "economic literature" relating to programs like Social Credit, Townsend Plan, Share the Wealth, and other proposals for immediately fixing things up. If so, let me suggest a yardstick which has kept me from going crazy.

The yardstick is this: Does the program promise a solution via Something Easy, via passing laws, printing money, or pulling white rabbits out of silk hats? If so, you may know without reading the literature that it is no good.

SO EASY

The N. R. A. was Something Easy. A nice shiny law under which all workers would receive higher wages for shorter hours, and all employers would be relieved of competitive troubles and guaranteed good profits. When I was shown a proposed code for the industry in which I make my living, I noticed that it expected to remedy in one minute all the abuses against which we have been struggling for thirty years. "It is no good," I said, and I took not further interest.

If some group would put forth a hard way to prosperity, it would have my support. By a hard way, I mean some such program as the Australians worked out: They decided that their country could be saved from bankruptcy only by reducing governmental expenditures and balancing the budget, and that this would demand an extraordinary sacrifice on the part of every citizen. So the bond holders took less interest, the landlords took less rent, employers took lower profits, employees lower wages. And everybody paid more taxes, and the victory was won.

It was hard, but it worked.

"GOOD OLD DAYS"

The present agitation in this country is all in the other direction—the Government is somehow to give everybody everything at no cost to anyone. Much talk is made of the "good old frontier days," as if people in those days had no troubles, nothing but boundless opportunity. We had plenty of pioneer troubles in my father's parsonage. No money and much work. We children were taught that if we plugged hard and lived within out incomes, we might expect to get along; but that if we did not get along, nobody in Washington would send us any money.

Every current insanity is going to blow up. You can save yourself a lot of time by not even reading the literature. Merely put the yardstick up against it and ask: ..."Is it easy?" ...If the answer is yes, it is just a very old fake with a fancy new name.

Resolution

Whereas, It has come to our attention that expenditures for highways in California the past five years have amounted to $234,460,251 and similar expenditures for highways in the United States for the same period have amounted to $5,587,581,364; and

Whereas, The registration of commercial vehicles using the highways in 1934 numbered 237,566 in California and 3,409,335 in the United States; and

Whereas, It is apparent that the operation of these vehicles has not only created an inconvenience to private motorists, for whom the highways were built but also has largely contributed to the appalling total 36,000 fatal injuries and 654,000 casualties in the United States, and 2,805 fatalities and 45,153 casualties in the State of California in the year 1934; and

Whereas; It is our belief that such commercialization of the highways is against the public interest; now therefore be it

Resolved: That the Plumas County Chamber of Commerce in regular monthly meeting assembled in Quincy this 12th day of January, 1936, does hereby go on record as requesting the proper State agencies, including the California Railroad Commission, and the California Highway Commission, to immediately undertake a study of this situation, to the end that operation of commercial vehicles on the highways be regulated and restricted in accordance with public interest as indicated by the facts developed, and be it further

Resolved: That pending the outcome of such study request is made of the Railroad Commission that no action will be taken that will add to the number of commercial vehicles being operated on the streets, and highways, except to serve communities not now receiving adequate public transportation service; and be it further

Resolved: That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the California Railroad Commission, the California Highway Commission, and to all civic and commercial bodies throughout California, and copies handed to the press.

Unanimously adopted, this 12th day of January, 1936, by the Plumas County Chamber of Commerce, L. B. O'Rourke, President. Attest: E. R. McDaniel, Secretary.

TO TAKE MISERY OUT OF BANKING

The American Bankers Association has cooperated wherever it could properly do so in every measure for national recovery. It has offered constructive recommendations for such changes in banking laws as we recognized were necessary, and we now have a better law under which to operate. The Banking Act of 1935 affords us opportunities for broader service and, at the same time, retains the fundamentals which we believe are so vital to our national welfare and which have played a large part in bringing our country, in a comparatively short space of time, to the position of the greatest industrial nation on the earth.

R. V. FLEMING

The Public and Banking

It is necessary that the public have a thorough understanding of the functions of banks, what they can do and what they cannot do, for it must be recognized that to many people the business of banking is still somewhat of a mystery

We should frankly explain these functions to the public, acquaint them with the laws under which we operate and emphasize the vital part which banks play in the economic life of the Nation. Therefore, in order that there may be the fullest cooperation and understanding between the banks and the people of the country, it will also be one of our objectives to take the mystery out of banking wherever it exists in the public mind.

Banking Conferences

A series of Regional Conferences on Banking Service will be held in strategic sections of the country, embracing all types of banking. The new banking laws and the regulations issued thereunder will be carefully analyzed so that our bankers will have a thorough understanding of the broadened services now made possible.

The question of public relations and how we can best serve the people of our communities will be another topic of discussion. Clinics or forums on specific questions of interest to bankers and the problems confronting them in their particular localities will also be included in these conferences.

PUBLIC ATTITUDE HELPS THE BANKS

Annual Bankers Convention Says People Have Had Confidence Restored—Recommends Changed Government Policy

The restoration of public confidence in banking has put it in the position where it can function fully and vigorously in playing its full economic part in the progress of recovery, said the American Bankers Association in its annual convention resolutions.

"The passage of a generally constructive banking law in the Banking Act of 1935 has stabilized the banking situation and enabled bankers to devote undivided attention to the normal administration of their institutions in promoting the business and public welfare of their communities," the resolutions said.

"We feel that it is a particularly important feature of this law that it aims to create through the revision of the Federal Reserve Board a Supreme Court of Finance which, with the nonpolitical appointment of exceptionally competent men, should constitute one of the greatest forward steps in building a sound banking and credit system for this country."

STATE MINERAL OUTPUT GAINS

The total value of the mineral production of California for the year 1935, just closed, is conservatively estimated by the Statistical Section of the Division of Mines, Department of Natural Resources, under the direction of Walter W. Bradley, State Mineralogist, to have been $256,933,000. This is in part, detailed in the tabulation below, but as there are more than 50 mineral substances on California's commercial list, it is impracticable at this early date to obtain definite figures on other than the more important items. The blank report forms are being mailed to the operators in all mineral lines, and the detailed and complete report will be compiled and published later.

The estimated total of $256,938,000 is an increase of approximately $19,563,000 over the value of the 1934 production, which was valued at $237,374,709. The principal increases in value of output over the previous year were shown by petroleum, gold, and natural gas; with lesser increases shown by brick and hollow building tile, miscellaneous stone, silver, quicksilver, copper, lead and othe structural materials, and miscellaneous industrial materials. The only important mineral product that showed a decrease in amount and value was cement.

The value and amount of the petroleum output showed a marked increase over 1934, with a total quantity of about 203,005,000 barrels. an increase of approximately 15%. The average price of all grades of crude oil was less than that for 1934, owing to a decrease in the prevailing prices at the end of August, with slight increases at the end of November and December, but not reaching the prices for the first eight months.

Recepits of bullion at the mint and smelters showed an increased output of gold of some 150,000 fine ounces over 1934. All the other major metals showed an increased yield, and with the exception of quicksilver this was directly due to the increased gold production as there were no mines in the state shipping copper or lead ores as such.

Of the structural group practically all the materials showed an increased output; this was accounted for by the fact that buildings permits in the principal cities of the state increased approximately 96% over the preceding year. The decrease in the cement output is due to decline in shipments to points out side the state.

The estimated value and quantities for 1935 are as follows:

$30,429,000—869,000 fine ounces—gold.

$825,000—1,118,000 fine ounces—silver.

$215,000 — 2,550,000 pounds — copper.

$55,000—1,380,000 pounds—lead.

$11,000—240,000 pounds—zinc.

$636,000—9,500 flasks—quicksilver.

$275,000Kother metals, including chromite, platinum, and tungsten ore.

$175,036,000 —203,005,000 bbls.—petroleum.

$15,151,000—278,000,000 M. cu ft.—natural gas.

$8,924,000—7,028,000 bbls.—Cement.

$7,850,000 — crushed rock, sand and gravel.

$1,891,000 — brick and hollow building tile.

$890,000—other structural materials, including bituminous rock, granite, magnesite, marble, sandstone, slate, etc.

$4,500,000—miscellaneous industrial materials.

$9,250,000—Salines, including borates, potash, iodine, salt, soda, etc.

Total $256,938,000.

MINE ASKS FOR SOUTH YUBA DITCH WATER

Permission to divert water from the South Yuba Canal, a power ditch supplying water to the Deer Creek Power House above Nevada City for the Zeibright Mine in Bear Valley, says the Sacramento Bee, was asked jointly by the Nevada Irrigation District and the Pacific Gas and Electric Company before the state railroad commission in San Francisco Tuesday.

In the Nevada Irrigation District-Pacific Gas and Electric Company contract it is stated specifically the water in the South Yuba ditch, which has its source at Lake Spaulding, shall be used for power purposes only.

The Zeibright mine, the property of the Empire-St.ar Mines Company, Ltd., will need approximately forty inches to operate its new 400 ton mill.

To accomodate the mine, both the irrigation district and power company are willing to have the needed amount of water diverted from the canal, which flows by the property. To allow for the diversion a change in the contract is necessary.

In the past the Zeibright mine used eight inches of water from the 125 second feet capacity of the ditch. Because of the material increase the district and power company deemed it necessary to have the sanction of the railroad commission.

STATE CHAMBER OPPOSES REPEAL OF SALES TAX

The California State Chamber of Commerce will actively oppose the initiative measure which would repeal the California sales tax and at the same time set up a single tax in this state, and the measure which would repeal the personal income tax.

This action was taken at a meeting of the board of directors of the State Chamber at a meeting held in Yosemite National Park, according to an announcement made by Joseph R. Knowland, president of statewide organization.

Both the measure which would repeal the sales tax and institure the single tax, and the one which would repeal the personal income tax have already been qualified for the ballot through the initiative petition method and will be voted upon by the people at the November election this year.

In announcing the action of the State Chamber directors, President Knowland said:

"Action of the board of directors was taken in view of the crtical condition of the state's finances and the need for all present revenues during this biennium, and that these taxes are part of the revenue program enacted by the legislature for this biennium as the result of recommendations of the joint taxation committee of the senate and assembly."

YELLOWJACKETS TAKE DRUBBING

(By BEN SWEENEY)

The Nevada City Yellowjackets A team held the Placer Union quintet, top-raters in the league basketball schedule this season, to a 24 to 12 score at a game played Friday night in Auburn. Memories of the terrific defeat suffered at the hands of the Placer outfit last season evidently gave the locals a new spark of enthusiasm with the resulting low score. With Lopez, local center and high point man in the recent Roseville contest, out sick during the second half, the Nevada City team was at more of a distavantage than it would have been with Lopez on the job.

Half of the points made by the home team were made on foul shots, Santinelli shooting four out of a possizle five with surprising accuracy. Steger chalked up four points, one of his field goals being a beautiful long shot, the one spectacular basket of the evening.

The A players who saw action Friday night, and their points, follow: Steger, 4; Santinelli, 4; Stevens, 3; Wilde, 1; Perez, Lopez, Doolittle.

Auburn succeeded in taking the B contest also with a 32 to 18 score. The Yellowjackets were unable to overcome the lead gained by their opponents early in the contest, and the half ended 18 to 6. Out of a number of attempts at long shots unnecessarily taken, Schiffner eked out but three points. The few times the ball was fed to the man in the hole, scoring was done by the locals. Following are the men who played and the points made: Mullis, 6; Bennett, 4; Schiffner, 3; Brown, 3; Organ, 2; Gates, Bonner and Clark.

Mrs. A. D. Hughes and son, Ross, who have made their home in Nevada City for the past year, left on Sunday for Modesto where they will reside.

Among those from this section attending the theatre in Sacramento Friday evening to hear Jose Iturbi, Spanish violinist, were Mrs. Catherine Celio, daughter, Miss Catherine Celio, and Mr. Marshall Giselman. A number of Mr. Giselman's pupils from Grass Valley and Auburn were also present.

TAHOE LIVESTOCK ASSN. TO MEET

The annual meeting of the Tahoe-Livestock association will be held on Saturday, February 1, 1936 in the Marysville Hotel, Marysville, California.

The chairman will call the meeting to order at 10:00 a. m., and luncheon will be served at 12:45. The meeting will be continued until all business is concluded. The management has arranged to put on a seventy five cent luncheon.

There are several matters of importance which will come before the meeting for discussion. It is planned to have Mr. Wing, of the Woolgrowers association and Mr. Curry of the Cattlemen's association with us. Mr. Wing will have just returned from an important national meeting in Salt Lake City and will undoubtedly have some topics of very great interest, both politically and practically for the association.

Arrangements have also been made to have a representative from the University Farm at Davis and representatives from the Forest Service present at the meeting.

The standing committees will have several reports to make upon the progress that has been made by them members during the past year.

MUSIC IS MAGIC, SHOW AT THEATRE TUESDAY

Slap-bang comedy and toe-tickling music in a romantic story that is also biting satire on the Hollywood scene, mark the new Fox musical comedy "Music is Magic", which comes tomorrow to the Nevada theatre.

Talented Alice Faye is featured in the picture, supported by Ray Walker, who has the romantic lead; Mitchell and Durante, comedians of the "goofiest" order, and Bebe Daniels.

"Music is Magis" concerns itself with the efforts of Miss Faye, aided by her three friends, Walker, Mitchell and Durant, to win fame and fortune in Hollywood. Miss Daniels enacts the role of a time worn actress seeking to retain her position in the motion picture world. She is particularly fearful of Miss Faye, who seems destined to supplant her.

After a series of rebuffs, Miss Faye aided by her friends, gets a chance during a filmusical when Miss Daniels goes tempermental and refuses to continue.

Supplementing the main romance between Miss Faye and Walker, is a rivalry between Miss Daniels and her screen daughter, Rosina Lawrence, for the affections of Thomas Beck. Matters between them are straightened out in the climax when Miss Lawrence is hurt in an accident and Miss Daniels is made to realize that her first duty is to her daughter.

Home Town Dollars

Said the little silver dollars,
"Please don't send us far away;
If you'll keep us in the home town,
We will serve you day by day.
Roll us here among the neighbors,
If you wish the town to thrive,
And some day we'll roll back to you,
As sure as you're alive.

If you'll roll us to your merchant,
He'll improve his house or store,
And the carpenter will purchase
That much needed new front door;
Then the lumberman will roll us
To the druggist who will say,
'Gosh, I owe the home town baker,
And I think I'll go and pay.'

From the baker to the grocer,
From the grocer to his clerk,
We'll pursue our jingling journey,
Never finding time to shirk;
Why, we'll even find ye editor,
Who'll gasp and stare and say,
'Holy Smoke! Paid up subscriptions!'
And then calmly faint away.

And that's the way good neighbors
Can make the home town gay,
So keep us here among you,
Don't send us far away;
For as we journey round the town,
You'll find these words are true,
The dollars that you roll at home,
Will roll right back to you.

A. MERRIAM CONNER.

SEN. SEAWELL TALKS ON TAXES THAT HIT MINES

Senator Jerrold L. Seawell appearing as a guest speaker before Auburn Lions Club, last week reviewed state financial problems, discussed the silicosis threat and also reviewed the severance tax that was attempted to be enacted at the last session of legislature.

He stated that he was convinced that the budget of the state was balanced with the exception of the deficit carried over from the previous administration. Following a conference with Cenator Walter H. Duval in Los Angeles last week, in which Senator Duval, who was the head of the joint revenue and taxation commiteee of the last legislature, convinced him that the budget was balanced.

Sales tax revenues have exceeded the estimates made by the committee approximately forty millions of dollars. Insurance company taxes will increase eight million dollars over the estimate. The estimated income from liquor taxes and licenses was placed at nine million dollars, while actually the income from this source will exceed sixteen million dollars. The estimated income from inheritance taxes will far exceed all expectations. The federal government income tax agencies state that this revenue has increased twenty per cent over that of last year, and as the state income tax is based on the federal return, the estimated income from this source will exceed the estimate approximately the same proportion, if not more than the increase in the federal return. The automobile license tax will also bring more revenue than was contemplated when it was enacted. These taxes in addition to other revenue which will be received from other unexpected sources, is more than sufficient to balance the state budget, providing the statement of Mr. Stockburger that the additional twenty four million dollars appropriated in the last budget for unemployed relief will not be necessary as sufficient funds will be available to carry on this program for the present. This would leave only approximately the twenty seven million dollar deficit of the previous biennium uncared for and could be absorbed as business conditions improve and state revenues increase as a result of this improvement.

He stated with these facts before us, that a special session of the legislature is unnecessary unless certain existing tax laws are repealed next November, in which case new legislation will be necessary to replace the income lost in this event.

He referred to and discussed the proposed increase in mining compensation insurance rates due to the silicosis decision of the supreme court, which eliminated the statute of limitations heretofore recognized by the Industrial Accident Commission when making decisions on claim arising from this disease. He expressed his opinion that the fight should be carried on vigorously before the Insurance Commissioner who is holding hearings on this subject in Los Angeles, December 29, and in San Francisco, February 11.

Seawell explained how the proposed severance tax on gold was defeated last session and recommended that the mining industries through its representatives in the legislature carefully watch this form of taxation during the next session and be prepared to defend their interest should this tax again be submitted. He criticised certain individuals who have been trying to prey upon the industries by continually endeavoring to seek employment or funds to defeat this tax. He also pointed out that if the budget is balanced, as he has every right to believe that it is, such a tax would be unnecessary and from a practical viewpoint is an unfair and unjust tax under any conditions, as it would discriminate against California industries.

He closed his remarks by stating that he would continue in the future as he has in the past to wage war upon any legislation that would be detrimental to the mining industry, and that he would work vigorously for the passage of legislation that would benefit California's mining industries.

"Was your bachelor party a success?"

"Rather, we had to postpone the wedding three days."

She (gushingly): "Will you love me when I am old?"

THE PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY BALL

Memorial Hall, Grass Valley, Thursday Evening, January 30, 1936

EVERY YEAR infantile paralysis cripples hundreds of children. Rich and poor the dread disease, makes no distinction, but in the families of the poor the visitation of this scourge is devastating beyond description. The struggle for food for the other children must go on regardless of what happens to the crippled child. A roof, clothing and food must be provided whether the afflicted child dies or lives to be a hopeless cripple.

The President of the United States, himself one of the casualties in this never-ending war upon infantile paralysis, has instituted the "President's Birthday Ball," which this year falls on January 30, next Thursday evening, at which all generous and civic minded people are given an opportunity to contribute toward the curing and alleviation of the suffering little children due to this plague.

The people of Nevada County have a splendid tradition dating back to the days of the Argonauts to maintain in this instance. Money raised last year at the President's Birthday Ball, has helped to make life easier and to cure, partially, 3 local children afflicted with infantile paralysis. Under the arrangement made with the national committee 70 per cent of the receipts of the ball go for the benefit of the local victims of the infantile paralysis. Thirty per cent goes to the endowment of Warm Springs, Georgia, where hundreds of little children suffering from the disease are treated.

This year the President's Ball is more, far more, than a general community dance in Memorial Hall, Grass Valley. There will be an excellent program preceding the ball, which gives anyone, whether they enjoy dancing or not, their money's worth.

All the forces which have made Nevada County noted for its charity, its kindness, its thoughtful generosity for those in want, in sickness or bereavement are mustering for this great annual event.

Japan Walks Out

(Contributed)

When Japan walked out of the naval conference in London last week, she set in motion a net work of cause and effect that will have a vital influence on the future of civilization.

Bluntly, the United States and Britain informed the Japanese representative that his demand for naval equality was out of the question. Quite logically the United States pointed out a Nipponese navy of equal tonnage would be infinitely stronger than ours because of Japan's position in the Pacific. A navy more than equal to the task of defending Nippon would be woefully inadequate to defend America. Also, with equality of naval arms Japan would be impregnable in waters of the Far East, even against the combined British and American fleets.

That, admittedly, is what Japan wants. For she still has much expanding to do, which means more cutting up of China, possible acquisition of the Philippines and Dutch East Indies, and involves a threat of war with Russia over Siberian territory.

Meanwhile, the naval tonnage race is on, the lavish pouring out of money to build ships is under way, and the world is just that much farther away from peace than it was a month ago.

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

There were twelve tables of lards at the party given by the woman's auxiliary of Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W., on Friday night. The party was a great success and prizes were won as follows: Bridge whist, Mrs. W. R. Jefford and Mrs. Elmer Bosworth; whist Mrs. Tillie Weiss and Mrs. May Willias. Mrs. Marion Jones took the door prize, a big box of groceries. A fine fat hen that was donated to the ladies was auctioned off with Mrs Ben Tonella the lucky bidder .

Women's Civic Club—The regular meeting will be held tonight at 7:00 o'clock at the Nevada City high school where a pot luck supper will be served, to be followed by a burlesque party and a program. Members who have not transportation should meet at the Union Corner at 6:50 where cars will be in waiting and they will also be brought back to town after the meeting.—Mrs. George W. Gildersleeve, President.

CRITTENDEN MAY OPPOSE F. H. BUCK

The possibility that State Senator Bradford S. Crittenden of Stockton may be drafted by Republican leaders of the Third Congressional District as a candidate for congress is foreseen by Earl C. Behrens in an article in the San Francisco Chronicle.

Senator Crittenden would oppose Representative Frank H. Buck, Democrat of Vacaville. The district comprises Sacramento, San Joaquin, Solano, Napa, and Yolo counties.

Crittenden is one of the veterans of the California legislature and is a holdover member of the senate. He is one of the men closely identified with the Central Valleys Project and fathered it in the legislature. He was chairman of a joint legislative committee of senators and assemblymen which worked on the details of the project over a long period.

Senator Crittenden was given a testimonial birthday dinner in Stockton last night.
